

Tim Pethick designed and produced the key spectacle for the opening ceremony for this event – an 8m diameter football which, after being carried onto the pitch, opened to become a thistle revealing a central stage. The Proclaimers then performed on the stage before the structure closed again. This was co-ordinated with massed pipe bands. The event was broadcast live to a global television audience.